

2019 Annual Conference Sponsorship Invitation

University of Nevada, Reno

The California-Nevada Chapter of the Soil and Water Conservation Society and the University of Nevada, Reno SWCS Club are planning their 2019 Annual Conference and your support would be greatly appreciated.

- Date: May 23 - 24, 2019
Location: The Innevation Center in Reno, NV
Theme: Women in Conservation
Target Audience: Local, state, and federal natural resource professionals from the public and private sectors. Current students and recent graduates from California and Nevada universities.

Our Chapter will use the proceeds of this event to support our Scholarship Program which awards a financial scholarship to one student each year attending a university in either California or Nevada who is majoring in studies related to soil or water conservation. You can learn more about conference here:

Because we are a small organization with a limited budget, small donations go a long way. The table below shows the levels of sponsorship we are seeking along with the benefits we would provide for you or your organization.

Benefits provided to your organization:	White Level $100	Blue Level $250	Green Level $500
Organization name, logo, and website included in online and printed material.	★	★	★
Invitation to participate with a table/ booth during Friday Speaker Series.		★	★
One complimentary registration for the full conference.			★
Recognition as featured sponsor of an event component (see below for options).			★

Your participation in this event will both help foster the art and science of soil and water conservation in California and Nevada as well as demonstrate your organization's commitment to the conservation of those resources as well.

To make a tax deductible donation and support this conference as a sponsor, please fill out and return the form on the following page.

Thank you for your consideration.
